SPORTY SPICE

There is nothing more festive than dressing up like a big, tinselly bauble, which is why the release of New York wunderkind Thakoon Panichgul's small but perfectly formed capsule collection for Hogan could not be timelier. Its metallic fuchsia and pearly-white palette is perfect for those jolly last few days at work before the holidays. Technically, the pieces were inspired by the foil wraps that marathon runners wear when they finish a race. And technically, their shape – they're all long or cropped anoraks – makes them perfect year-round staples. But let's not let details get in the way of some festive fun.
